The unlisted convertible notes are assumed to have been converted into ordinary shares and the net profit is adjusted to eliminate the interest expense of the unlisted convertible notes less the tax effect.

For the share options, a calculation is done to determine the number of shares that could have been acquired at fair value (determined as the average annual market share price of the Company's shares) based on the monetary value of the subscription rights attached to outstanding share options. The number of shares calculated as below is compared with the number of shares that would have been issued assuming the exercise of the share options.

The said increase was mainly driven by the increased number of hospitals acquired by the Group with the increased contribution in turnover from HK$43,883,000 in 2007 to HK$134,169,000 in 2008 by the provision of general hospital services in the PRC.
